

Riders aim to beat up Bombers

REGINA
As their traditional home-and-home series approaches, the Saskatchewan Roughriders and Winnipeg Blue Bombers find themselves heading in opposite directions.

Saskatchewan sits atop the West Division at 7-1 while Winnipeg is mired in the East Division basement at 1-7.

With the Labour Day Classic at Mosaic Stadium on Sunday, followed by the Banjo Bowl in Winnipeg the following weekend, the Blue Bombers will be hoping to get on track and the Roughriders are looking to solidify their hold on first place.

Rest assured, the Riders, who are in position to start a season 8-1 for the first time in franchise history, are not taking the Bombers lightly.

"I'm real pleased with the way the team practised this week," said head coach Corey Chamblin, adding that his players are taking their rivals "a hundred per cent seriously."

Saskatchewan defensive tackle Tearrius George agrees with Chamblin that this year's Roughriders have exhibited maturity and confidence, citing back-to-back victories in which the team has had to come from behind against the Montreal Alouettes and Edmonton Eskimos.

"The last couple of games we've played, we had our backs against the wall and come out wins at the end," George said.

Starting at quarterback for the Bombers will be Justin Goltz, who lacks experience but is now working with a new offensive co-ordinator, Marcel Bellefeuille, the replacement for the fired Gary Crowton.

"I like what Coach Bellefeuille is doing," Goltz said. "He has really helped clear some stuff up. I really like stepping up to the line of scrimmage and having a process, having clear cut keys and directions to go with the football."

Saskatchewan linebacker Renauld Williams says whoever happens to be at quarterback for the Bombers can expect to be staring at defence that will be "flying around" and applying great pressure.

"We also have a lot of different looks we can give a quarterback," Williams said. "We've been harping all week on just doing your job."

The fact that the Riders will be in hot pursuit comes as no surprise to Goltz.

"I expect them to come after us, both the fans and the team," he said.

A sellout crowd of 45,000 is anticipated for the Labour Day Classic.

"It's not only a big crowd, it's a knowledgeable crowd," said

Saskatchewan quarterbacks coach Khari Jones. "They know when to be quiet and when to be loud, to help our team."

Added Roughrider centre Dominic Picard: "The 13th man will be there, absolutely."

Despite their struggles, Goltz insists the Bombers are still fighting to turn things around.

"I don't think anybody's given up on the season. I don't think anybody's given up on themselves," he said. "Guys come to work every day expecting to improve, expecting to get better. I don't think anything's a foregone conclusion."

Saskatchewan slotback Geroy Simon said the Riders have to be wary of Winnipeg's defence. "We're not going to take anybody lightly," because that's been the prevailing sentiment in Riverview this week.

"Their front seven is very good," Simon said. "We have to take care of their rush ends, and make sure they don't screw up our game plan."

Arguably the best way to offset the pass rush is with the ground game, and Saskatchewan possesses the most productive in the CFL, thanks to tailback Kory Sheets.

"He's just very patient," said Bombers head coach Tim Burke. "He just reads it, and then he sees the hole and goes. That's where we've got to be good. We've got to stay in our gaps and just hold him down."

The last time the Bombers won in Saskatchewan was 2004.

Calvillo out for Alouettes

The Canadian Press

MONTREAL
Neither Anthony Calvillo or Ricky Ray will be on the field when the Montreal Alouettes visit the Toronto Argonauts.

Calvillo is still having vision trouble and headaches from a hit during an Aug. 17 contest in Regina and will sit out the team's next game, coach and general manager Jim Popp said Friday.

He will miss the game Tuesday in Toronto and there was no word on whether he will be ready for a return match five days later in Montreal.

That announcement came a day after the Argonauts said Ray would be out for a few weeks with a shoulder injury.

Rookie Tanner Marsh is likely to get the start for Montreal after leading the Alouettes to a comeback 39-38 win last week over the B.C. Lions.

"I told the players that whether Ricky Ray or Anthony Calvillo is playing, it doesn't matter," said Popp. "Each team will be playing different quarterbacks and will be without guys who will probably be Hall of Famers, but you've got to prepare as though they're both playing."

FIRE HYDRANT & WATER MAIN FLUSHING

The Environmental Utilities Department will test and flush fire hydrants plus water mains until October 2013. This is an annual maintenance activity that maintains water quality and system infrastructure. Residents may notice some discoloring of water, which is not harmful and will disappear when flushing is complete. Fluctuating pressure may also be noticed. Should discoloration persist beyond three hours, you may wish to flush the water from your home for a few minutes by watering your lawn or running your tap. Please note that the flushing in your home will not correct private plumbing/corrosion problems. Thank you for your understanding.
