

Donaldson plays extra innings hero

TORONTO
Josh Donaldson hit a walkoff single in the bottom of the 11th inning as the Toronto Blue Jays beat the Kansas City Royals 7-6 on Friday night.

Donaldson singled off Royals reliever Franklin Morales to drive home Troy Tulowitzki from second base for the Jays' third straight win. Tulowitzki went 2-for-5 in his third game with Toronto.

The Blue Jays (53-51) were able to erase a three-run deficit twice against the AL Central-leading Royals (61-41) in the victory.

Toronto starter Drew Hutchison allowed just three earned runs in five innings of work.

Kansas City's newest ace, Johnny Cueto, made his debut, allowing three runs and striking out seven over six innings.

Blue Jays relievers Aaron Sanchez, Robert Osuna, Brett Cecil and Liam Hendricks, meanwhile, combined for four perfect innings.

of the trade frenzy all week with the acquisitions of ace starter David Price, Tulowitzki, relievers LaTroy Hawkins and Mark Lowe and outfielder Ben Revere.

Revere and Lowe, picked up in separate trades earlier in the day, will have to wait to make their impact later in the series. Price watched from the dugout with his debut scheduled for Monday against the Minnesota Twins.

The Royals jumped on Hutchison with two outs in the first inning. Kendrys Morales's two-run double to right centre did the first damage, and Ben Zobrist's RBI single made it 3-0 before Cueto even took the mound.

Cueto started off dominant, setting down the first six Blue Jays batters, two by strikeout.

Ezequiel Carrera's bunt single to lead off the third got Toronto going, and Donaldson's two-run double cut into the deficit. In the fourth, Kevin Pillar's RBI single tied the score at three.

Hutchison lasted only one batter into the sixth. Left-hander Aaron Loup replaced him and faced only one hitter after Donaldson's throw on a broken bat roller by Eric Hosmer sailed over the head of first baseman Justin Smoak, leading to a Royals run.

A sacrifice fly by Morales made it 5-3, and the Royals tacked on another on a single by Alcides Escobar in the seventh making it 6-3.

Price to debut Monday vs. Twins

TORONTO

David Price will make his first start with the Toronto Blue Jays on Monday, barring any more unforeseen transit hiccups.

Price's tenure with the Blue Jays literally got off to a bumpy start Friday when his car blew out a tire on his drive from Detroit to Toronto.

"Sweet tire blew out on my way to the six," he posted on Twitter just after 10 a.m.

Less than an hour later, Price tweeted: "No one has tires to fit the back of my car so my presence in the 6 is gonna be delayed another couple hours...unreal!"

Price then tweeted a busted lip but she will be just fine!

Things can always be worse...find a positive in negative situations.

General manager Alex Anthopoulos got a brief update on Price that "He is in Canada after crossing the border from Michigan. Price arrived less than an hour before the Blue Jays' game against the Kansas City Royals and was set to speak with reporters afterward.

"Excited to have him, you guys will meet him and excited to see him pitch," Anthopoulos said.

That'll be Monday against the Minnesota Twins, who the Blue Jays are chasing in the American League wild-card race. Price was on rotation to start Sunday but because he couldn't throw his side session Thursday, manager John Gibbons said the decision was made to push him back.

Jays go all-in for post-season push with deadline deals

STEPHEN WHYNO

TORONTO

In the week leading up to the trade deadline, the Toronto Blue Jays traded 11 pitching prospects in an effort to bolster their starting rotation, bullpen and lineup.

The final haul turned out to be ace starter David Price, shortstop Troy Tulowitzki, relievers LaTroy Hawkins and Mark Lowe and outfielder Ben Revere. General manager Alex Anthopoulos hates the term "all-in," but that's exactly what the Blue Jays are for this season.

"People talk about 'all-in' and things like that — we're trying to win each year," Anthopoulos said Friday. "We believe in the talent, we believe we have a chance to get to the post-season."

That's the expectation if not the mandate for the 2015 Blue Jays, who hit the trade deadline 52-51, two games back of the Minnesota Twins for the second American League wild-card spot and six back of the East Division-leading New York Yankees.

These trades put even more pressure on the loaded Blue Jays to make the playoffs for the first time since 1993 and end the longest drought in North American professional sports.

"There's always pressure," manager John Gibbons said. "I'm excited about that, but I don't think that's changed. But there's pressure on you in this business all the time."

Perhaps the first bit of pressure was on Anthopoulos, whose contract is up at the end of the season, along with team president Paul Beeston's. But the Montreal native said he didn't know going into the week that he was going to be this aggressive and at times feared the Blue Jays wouldn't be able to do much.

Instead, Toronto kicked things off by getting Tulowitzki and Hawkins from the Colorado Rockies for shortstop Jose Reyes and big-time pitching prospects Jeff Hoffman and Miguel Castro along with Jesus Tinoco. Price cost three more young pitchers in top prospect Daniel Norris and fellow lefties Matt Boyd and Jairo Labrera.

On deadline day, the Blue Jays sent left-handed pitchers Nick Wells, Jacob Brentz and Rob Rasmussen to Seattle for Lowe and right-handers Jimmy Cordero and Alberto Tirado to Philadelphia for Revere. They got cash from the Oakland Athletics for pitcher Felix Doubront, who had been designated for assignment.

Lowe, a 32-year-old who revitalized his career this season, has a 1.00 ERA with 37 strikeouts and 11 walks in 36 innings and like Price can be a free agent after this season.

Mets snag Cespedes at deadline, Hamels to Rangers

RONALD BLUM
The Associated Press

NEW YORK

The Mets finally landed the bat they were looking for in Yoenis Cespedes just ahead of Friday's trade deadline, and Cole Hamels confirmed he blocked a trade to Houston before Philadelphia dealt its ace to Texas.

Sixteen trades were made Friday ahead of the annual deadline for deals without waivers, but San Diego was among the buyers, not the sellers, to the surprise of some.

Hamels was the only top starting pitcher dealt following earlier trades that sent Scott Kazmir to Houston, Johnny Cueto to Kansas City and David Price to Toronto. The Blue Jays scheduled a blowout news conference at Rogers Centre to introduce Price, but instead the left-hander was side-tracked by a blowout to one of the tires on his grey sports car.

The 2012 AL Cy Young Award winner, traded by Detroit on Thursday, tweeted just after 10 a.m. saying he'd blown a tire. About an hour later, he posted again to say he couldn't find anyone to fit a new tire on his car.

Blue Jays fans tweeted back, telling him they'd pick him up wherever he was waiting. One fan cautioned "If you change the tire. RIGHT HAND ONLY!!!"

Eleven of 15 AL teams began the day within five games of a playoff berth, and seven of 15 in the NL, where the races are more defined.

"There are a lot of buyers out there," Mets general manager Sandy Alderson said. "And that probably has something to do with the second wild card, and maybe just the reality of that second wild card has sunk in, and the tightness of various races around both leagues."

Cespedes, eligible for free agency after the season, hit .293 with 18 home runs and 61 RBIs in 102 games for the Tigers. Seeking to make the playoffs for the first time since 2006, the Mets have a talented starting rotation but rank last in the majors in runs and batting average, and 29th in on-base percentage and slugging.

"He's a very dynamic player," Alderson said. "We think he's going to impact us in a number of different ways. But I think also just his presence in the lineup and his presence on the team will raise the energy level — and I hope it raises the energy level in the dugout and in the stands. I think that this is the kind of player that could have a big impact both in terms of the game on the field and how the team is perceived."

New York already had added infielders Juan Uribe and Kelly Johnson, and reliever Tyler Clippard. The moves increased New York's payroll by about $8.2 million within the last week. Milwaukee general manager Doug Melvin said a trade deal through Wednesday night that would have sent outfielder Carlos Gomez to the Mets.
