I fit the bill: shouldn’t care about as an investor to filter out the stuff you watch the changes in market on a monthly basis to know paper statements in the mail markets, economy, individual

For more information, refer to www.medicinehat.ca/frozenwaterlines or contact Matt Solberg, CFP®. Matt Solberg, CFP® is an investment advisor and associate with TD Wealth Private Investment Advice. Contact him at matt.solberg@td.com or 403-504-2780

The report says the extra $5.8 billion represents foregone corporate income tax revenues for the federal, Ontario, and Quebec governments. Of the total $45.4 billion in costs, 42 per cent will fall on the federal government and 38 per cent will fall on the governments of Ontario and Quebec.

The report analyzes the costs to governments of recent deals struck with Nordstrom, Volkswagen and Stellantis-LEDs to locate EV battery manufacturing facilities in Canada. It puts the total cost of government support at $43.6 billion between 2022 and 2033, which is $13.8 billion higher than the $30.7 billion in costs-announced by Ottawa and the provinces.

Three things you shouldn’t care about as an investor

1. The amount of time and effort you put into your investments. That’s not the case when it comes to investing. Yes, some level of intelligence is required but as Warren Buffett once said, “Investing is not a game where the guy with the 130 IQ beats the guy with the 190 IQ. Once you have ordinary intelligence, what you need is the temperament to control the urges that get other people into trouble in investing.” There are plenty of intelligent people involved with the markets but not nearly as many who have control over their reactions.

2. Your IQ. You’ll waste more than 1Q when investing. Yes, some

EV battery subsidy deals to cost $5.8B more than government projections

3. Timing the market perfectly. Investors waste far too much time trying to find the perfect entry point for their investments. That perfect entry point only knows with the benefit of hindsight. Your fate better of putting your money to work when you have some money to put to work and let compounding interest make up for any ill-timed purchases.

For more information please contact me at 403-404-2780 or email me at matt.solberg@td.com

Three things you shouldn’t care about as an investor:

1. The amount of time and effort you put into your investments.

2. Your IQ.

3. Timing the market perfectly.

For more information refer to www.medicinehat.ca/frozenwaterlines or contact Matt Solberg, CFP®. Matt Solberg, CFP® is an investment advisor and associate with TD Wealth Private Investment Advice. Contact him at matt.solberg@td.com or 403-504-2780.

The report says the extra $5.8 billion represents foregone corporate income tax revenues for the federal, Ontario, and Quebec governments. Of the total $45.4 billion in costs, 42 per cent will fall on the federal government and 38 per cent will fall on the governments of Ontario and Quebec.

Three things you shouldn’t care about as an investor:

1. The amount of time and effort you put into your investments.

2. Your IQ.

3. Timing the market perfectly.

For more information refer to www.medicinehat.ca/frozenwaterlines or contact Matt Solberg, CFP®. Matt Solberg, CFP® is an investment advisor and associate with TD Wealth Private Investment Advice. Contact him at matt.solberg@td.com or 403-504-2780.

The report says the extra $5.8 billion represents foregone corporate income tax revenues for the federal, Ontario, and Quebec governments. Of the total $45.4 billion in costs, 42 per cent will fall on the federal government and 38 per cent will fall on the governments of Ontario and Quebec.