ESPLANADE ARTS & HERITAGE CENTRE EXHIBITIONS

In The Air (Archives Vignette)

Until July 13, 2019

A bird on high in a blue, blue sky. Who can see this and not be enthralled by the wonder of flight? Hatters are no different. We have been in love with all things airborne since Katherine Stinson flew into our hearts one July day a hundred years ago. Discover the stories of men and women who dared to set their sights skyward and charted their won course through the skies of Medicine Hat.

Hat Art Club & Medicine Hat Potters Association Biennial Exhibition

Until August 3, 2019

A longstanding tradition at the Art Gallery, this exhibition gives a glimpse into the creative talents and imaginative interests of Medicine Hat's many artists and artisans. The exhibition includes a wide array of works in a variety of media, from painting to sculpture to ceramic vessels.

Terrestrial Beings

Until August 3, 2019

Occupying a place between reality, dream, memory and myth, Terrestrial Beings presents strange and wonderful works in which representations of the body and the land intersect physically, spiritually and metaphorically. Through sculpture, painting, drawing, photography and cut-paper, contemporary artists from across the country embrace their connection to the natural world as fertile ground for psychological exploration.

From The Vaults

Until September 21

Medicine Hat has had a museum and archives for seventy years. We have had an art gallery for more than forty years. In that time we have built a fantastic collection of artefacts, art and archival material. Many of these items have good stories that connect to the history of Medicine Hat, and we use these stories to develop the exhibits. From The Vaults takes a close look at how we operate on a daily basis and explores some of the reassures from our collections that we do not often have the chance to display. It features the interesting, the odd and the unusual; items we think you would like to see!

Susan Shantz – Currents: River Works-In-Progress

JULY 12 - JULY 13

Medicine Hat is situated on the South Saskatchewan River between its major tributaries: the Bow Oldman and Red Deer. I live along the same river in Saskatoon and have visited the Saskatchewan River Delta, the downstream end-point of the river. While I experience the river near my home as a natural phenomenon and place of beauty, after learning more about the river from scientific and environmental perspectives, I have come to realize it is a highly-managed water source. It sustains us, but with a cost for those downstream. Drawing on field trips to sites along the river, I use a variety media (from textiles to videography) to consider the currents that connect us in this prairie water basin. – Susan Shantz, 2019

On July 13 at 10:30 AM Susan Shantz will lead visitors on a tour of Currents: river works-in-progress in the Ewart Duggan House, following Jasmine Keillor's curatorial tour of Terrestrial Beings in the Art Gallery. No registration is required and admission is free.

FRI July 12 | 7 - 9 PM | Ewart Duggan House

Residency Exhibition & Art Walk | Free Admission

SAT July 13 | 10:30 AM | Gallery Tour
